

Master thesis summary

By presenting the subject of his thesis, the researcher aims to clarify the role and mission of an archive

The Ministry of Manpower and Training in the Arab Republic of Egypt for what it contains of files and papers on the types of Egyptian employment and their various specializations, the percentages of the educated among them and holders of high and medium degrees, and their importance and the development and transformational training programs they need according to the .local and foreign labor market