

An Analytical Study for the quality Cost measurement problems – an applied study .

Abstract :

The aim of this research is to analyze the problems that face the measurement of quality costs , and to apply the model in an industrial company .

This research has some conclusions such as the importance of the measurement of quality costs in the evaluation of quality programs , and the measurement of quality costs faces some problems such as the multi sources of quality costs data ,